A 75th Anniversary Gift From The University of Calgary

On 15 February, the University of Calgary showed its interest in our University's 75th Anniversary with the presentation of four photographic color reproductions of original architectural renderings of The University of Alberta, dating back to 1912.

The gift, presented by Norman Wagner, President, and Ross McKimmie, Chairman of the Board of Governors of The University of Calgary, was accepted by President Horowitz, on behalf of the University.

The renderings were originally created by architect Percy E. Nobbs. Mr. Nobbs was a partner in the architectural firm of Nobbs & Hyde, Montreal, which was entrusted with the over-all planning of The University of Alberta campus and the design of the Arts and Medical Buildings.

The reproductions were produced by Jim Peacock, head of the photography department for ComMedia, and consist of a block plan for the general building scheme of The University of Alberta, Strathcona, dated 1912 and designed by Mr. Nobbs and consulting architect Frank Darling; a revised evaluation of the proposed Arts Building dated 11 April 1913, by Nobbs & Hyde, Architects, Montreal; a revised, all stone, elevation of the proposed Arts Building, also dated 11 April 1913, by Nobbs & Hyde; and a rendering of a sculpture for the pediment over the faculty room window in the Arts Building.

The presentation is very timely because of renewed interest in the architect's work. McGill University is currently preparing a complete catalogue of Nobbs' work and is also organizing an exhibit of his own works to be displayed at our University next fall. The University of Calgary gift will complement this exhibit.

The original works are part of the Rule Wynn & Rule Collection donated to the Canadian Architectural Archive by Wynn Forbes Lord Feldberg & Schmidt, Edmonton, currently known as Forbes Lord Feldberg Schmidt & Croll.

The Nobbs' reproductions will be on display on the third floor of University Hall until the arrival of the McGill University exhibit next fall. □

Economist Richard Perlman Here For Fortnight

Richard Perlman, Professor of Economics at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will visit our University from 13 to 27 March. A well-known labor economist, Professor Perlman has a firm grasp on such topics as economics of education, poverty, and income distribution; unemployment, manpower planning and training; work incentives; labor supply; and wage differentials.

He has been a National Research Professor with the Brookings Institute in Washington, D.C. (1958-59), a consultant to the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities (1963), a consultant on Human Resources Planning to the fourth Development Plan of Spain (1973), and a consultant to the Madrid Conference on Employment and Unemployment Situation (1979).

Professor Perlman conducted a series of lectures in Mexico City (1964), Madrid (1972), Israel (1973), Salt Lake City (1978), and Canterbury, England (1981).

In 1974, he visited the University of Western Ontario and Simon Fraser University.

The dates, times, locations, and titles of Professor Perlman's Distinguished Visitor Lectures are as follows: 15 March, 2 to 3:30 p.m., 1-152 Education North: "Subsidizing Education: The Equity-Efficiency Controversy." 16 March, 12:30 to 1:50 p.m., 90 Tory Building: "Manpower

Trends in the United States and Their Effect on Productivity." 17 March, 3 to 4:30 p.m., 8-22 Tory Building: "On the Comparison Between Current and Past Rates of Unemployment." 18 March, 2 to 3:30 p.m., 336 Civil/Electrical Engineering Building: "Inflation and Unemployment: The Worsening Trade-off." 22 March, 4 to 6 p.m., 4-10 Tory Building: "Effects of Internal Labor Markets on Labor Relations in the Firm." 24 March, 3 to 4:30 p.m., 8-22 Tory Building: "Transfer Mechanism for Income Redistribution." 25 March, 12:30 to 1:50 p.m., Chemical/Mineral Engineering Building: "Manpower Needs in the 1980s." □

Cell Biologist Don Fawcett to Lecture Extensively in Zoology

The Department of Zoology is honored to host the visit of Don W. Fawcett, renowned cell biologist, to The University of Alberta from 6 to 21 March. Most of Don Fawcett's academic career has centred around the Harvard Medical School where he received his MD, where he ultimately served as Chairman of the Anatomy Department until 1975, and where he still retains two research chairs (Hersey Professor of Anatomy and James Stillman Professor of Comparative Anatomy).

Among numerous honors bestowed upon him during an active career spanning almost four decades, Dr. Fawcett has been the recipient of six honorary doctorate degrees from universities in Europe and the Americas. In addition to his numerous publications in scholarly journals, ISSN 0015-5764 Copyright 1982 Dr. Fawcett is probably best known to virtually all students of biology and medicine as author of Bloom and Fawcett's Textbook of Histology and The Cell, his Atlas of fine structure. Both books are standard reference works in biomedical literature.

In 1980, he took up residence in Nairobi, Kenya where he is Senior Scientist at the International Laboratory for Research on Animal Diseases (ILRAD).

During his visit, Dr. Fawcett will present six lectures to which the public is cordially invited: 1) "East African Wildlife and its prospects for survival" (8 March, 4 p.m., 345 Agriculture): A largely pictorial presentation of the habitat and the common mammalian, avian and reptilian species of East Africa, with comments on some behavioral and physiological aspects of a few and the role of others as reservoirs of disease. The political, geographical, and economic problems of conservation in a developing country will be considered. 2) "Changing concepts of cell structure" (9 March, 4 p.m., 345 Agriculture): A retrospective view of progress, emphasizing the diversity of available morphological approaches and their contributions to cell biology. 3) "Cell biology of the salivary gland in the tick vector of African East Coast fever" (11 March, 12:30 p.m., CW 410 Biological Sciences Building): The mission of the International Laboratory for Research on Animal Diseases will be defined, and the impact of trypanosomiasis and theileriosis on production of food for the developing countries of sub-Saharan Africa will be briefly stated. The organization and histophysiology of the salivary gland of the cattle tick will be discussed in relation to its function in attachment, alimentation, and osmoregulation. The rapid structural modifications in the gland in the course of the blood meal are among the most extensive cytomorphic changes thus far described by cell biologists. 4) "Host-parasite relationships of Theileria parva" (15 March, noon, CW 410 Biological Sciences Building): The development of the infectious stage of this obligate intracellular parasite in the salivary gland of its arthropod host will be described. Novel findings on the mechanism of its entry into the cells of the mammalian host cell will be presented and its strategy for evading the defences of the host cell will be discussed. 5) "Reproductive biology of the male and approaches to the control of fertility" (16 March 4 p.m., 345 Agriculture): In the context of the alarming growth of the world population, the organization and epithelium will be analyzed in a cell biology of the seminiferous search for vulnerable steps in spermatogenesis and sperm maturation that might lend themselves to reversible fertility control in the male. 6) "The spermatozoona model cell for the study of secretion, motility and regional membrane specialization" (18 March, 12:30 p.m., CW 410 Biological Sciences Building): Spermatozoa are free cells. readily available in bulk. Their specialized ultrastructure is known down to the macromolecular level. Factors influencing exocytosis can be studied on the head where the acrosome is, in effect, a single secretory granule. The spatial segregation of mitochondria in the mid-piece facilitates analysis of factors affecting energy production. The tail is ideal for analysis of flagellar motility. The plasmalemma overlying each of these segments has a distinctive organization within the plane of the membrane related to the specialized function of that region of the cell.

In addition to these formal lectures, Dr. Fawcett will be available for informal interation with all members of the University community, students in particular. Individuals or smaller groups wishing to consult with Dr. Dawcett should contact Bill Kaufman, Department of Zoology (telephone 432-4403) for setting up an appointment or for further information. Dr. Fawcett will spend Friday, 12 March at the University of Calgary. Those wishing further information on his program there should contact Dr. Nancy Henderson, Department of Biology, University of Calgary, telephone 284-5261.

The vacancy created by the departure of W.A. Preshing from his position as Director of the Office of Community Relations, effective 31 December 1981, has been filled by the appointment of C.J. Simpson as Acting Director for an indefinite term. Dr. Simpson's former role as Editor of Folio has been assumed, again in an acting capacity, by another member of the Community Relations staff, R.L. Thomas. Mr. Thomas has been closely involved for some time in all aspects of Folio's preparation.

Dr. Preshing has not left the service of this University.
Rather, he has returned to an active role as an academic engaged in teaching and research in the Faculties of Extension and Business Administration and Commerce.

Jim Lazaruk Succeeds Jim Donlevy As Golden Bears Head Coach

Garry Smith, Chairman of the Department of Athletic Services, recently announced the appointment of Jim Lazaruk as the new Head Coach of the Golden Bears Football Team. His appointment is for a two-year period covering the 1982 and 1983 seasons.

Lazaruk succeeds Jim Donlevy and becomes the Bear's twenty-first Head Coach (and seventh since the 1959 season). Donlevy has been seconded to the 1983 World University Games Organizing Committe for a two-year term as Manager of Athletic Accommodation. He will return to the University in 1983.

Lazaruk is no stranger to The University of Alberta's Football Program as he has been both a player and an assistant coach with the team. For three years, from 1970 to 1972, Lazaruk was a key member of the Golden Bears helping them win two WIFL Championships (1971 and 1972) as well as the 1972 College Bowl Championships. He was selected to the 1972 CIAU All-Canadian Team as the Offensive Centre and he received WIFL All-Star honors at the same position in 1971-72.

Upon graduating from The University of Alberta in 1973, he coached the Edmonton Wildcats for six years. The club won the Prairie Junior Football League Championship in 1976 and the Canadian Junior Football Championship in 1977.

Lazaruk, the recipient of the "Norm Kimball Coach of the Year Award" in 1976, currently teaches mathematics at Salisbury Composite High School.
